"To bring together the records of the past and to house them in buildings where they will be preserved for the use of men living in the future, a nation must believe in three things. It must believe in the past. It must believe in the future. It must, above all, believe in the capacity of its people so to learn from the past that they can gain in judgement for the creation of the future."

PREFATORY NOTE

This volume, prepared by the New Jersey Historical Records Survey and here presented, represents, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the first attempt to list all public vital statistics records in the State of New Jersey.

It is felt that this work will be of material assistance to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics and to many thousands of individuals who need to know the location of birth, marriage and death records and may be helpful in locating any missing records.

FOREWORD

The Guide to Vital Statistic Records in New Jersey is one of a number of guides to source materials prepared throughout the United States by workers on Historical Records Survey projects of the Work Projects Administration. The publication herewith presented, an inventory of public depositories of vital statistics, is the first volume in a three-volume guide to vital statistic records in New Jersey.

The Historical Records Survey program was undertaken in the winter of 1935-36 for the purpose of providing useful employment to needy unemployed historians, lawyers, teachers, and research and clerical workers. In carrying out this objective, the project was organized to compile inventories of historical materials, particularly governmental documents and records which are basic in the administration of local government and which provide invaluable data for students of political, economic, and social history. Up to the present time approximately 1,300 Survey publications have been issued throughout the country.

The volume herewith presented is designed to meet a pressing demand for a complete and accurate guide to vital statistic records in public depositories. It is hoped that, as a reference work, this volume may become indispensable to vital statisticians, insurance people, lawyers, businessmen, and other citizens who must resort to public records for vital statistic information to expedite the proper conduct of their affairs.

The successful conclusion of the work of Historical Records Survey projects would not be possible without the support of public officials, historical and legal specialists, and many other groups in the community. Their cooperation is gratefully acknowledged.

The Survey program was organized by Luther H. Evans, who served as Director until March 1, 1940, when he was succeeded by Sargent B. Child. The Survey operates as a Nation-wide series of locally sponsored projects in the Division of Community Service Programs, of which Mrs. Florence Kerr, Assistant Commissioner, is in charge.

PREFACE

The New Jersey Historical Records Survey Project was organized in February 1936 as a unit of the Works Progress Administration. It operates as a State-wide project under the local sponsorship of the New Jersey State Planning Board.

The Survey has, as its primary objective, the preparation of inventories of the municipal, county, State, and Federal archives in New Jersey and the publication of these inventories as guides to source material of historical interest. In addition to these inventories, work is proceeding in the cataloging and calendaring of manuscript collections, the inventorying of church archives, and the transcription of some of the earliest public records. Additional features of this comprehensive approach to authentic historical source materials are found in the Survey's research in American imprints and portraits in New Jersey.

The very nature of the Survey's work in archival materials and its demonstrated adaptability in handling the most varied research problems, as these occur in the daily routine or as they are assigned to it, have qualified the Survey for the task of preparing a guide to vital statistic records in New Jersey. The broad implications of the grave crisis confronting our country have brought the problems of citizenship into sharp focus. For every individual, vital statistic and naturalization records have become of paramount importance. Heretofore, only vital statisticians, insurance researchers, and lawyers have felt the need for a comprehensive guide to such records. Now, a guide to vital statistic records can well be of inestimable service to any member of the community.

The Guide to Vital Statistic Records in New Jersey is being issued in three independent, though complementary, volumes relating to three different sources of archival material, namely: Public records, church records of Protestant bodies, and church records of the Roman Catholic Church. The present volume on public records is arranged to show birth, marriage, and death records in separate series. Persons interested in locating any particular vital statistic document will find in the entries comprising this guide all the necessary information relative to location, quantity, inclusive dates, and kind of record. The essay material prefacing each series of records gives, in some detail, the history of colonial and State legislation affecting the recording of birth, marriage, and death statistics. An invaluable feature of this volume for the public in general is the directory of registrars of vital statistics in New Jersey.

The data for the volume was gathered, in the field, by researchers of the Historical Records Survey under the direction of Phillip Ardissone, Peter J. Reilly, and Russel Swayze, District Supervisors. The entries were written by Minnie Guarino, Fred Perault, and Ruth Beresford and edited by Sidney Berger with the collaboration of Allyn G. Jackson, Entry Supervisor. Legal research for this volume was directed by Leo Forcella. The general introduction and individual essays were written by James Moceri, Assistant Technician. All editorial phases of the guide were completed under the direction of Elmer V. Swan, State Editor.

All editorial activities of the Survey were conducted under the technical direction of Gustave Koeppe and Louis A. Lupton, and all administrative functions were supervised by George D. Myers, Assistant State Supervisors. The guide in final manuscript form was edited in the central office in Washington by Guy P. Timboe, assistant editor, and further reviewed by Mabel S. Brodie, editor in charge of public records inventories.

This guide could never have been completed but for the cooperation of Sargent B. Child, Director, and of the many public officials of this State. The editorial staff of the Historical Records Survey of New Jersey expresses its gratitude to Robert W. Allan, State Administrator, for his personal service and attention which were of inestimable aid in the production of this guide and for the continuance of the Survey under local sponsorship.

The various publications of the Survey are distributed, without charge, to Government offices, libraries, and historical societies in New Jersey, and to major universities, libraries, and depositories throughout the Nation. A list of other publications of the New Jersey Historical Records Survey Project appears at the end of this volume. Requests for information concerning any unit of the Survey should be addressed to the undersigned at 1060 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The complexities of the economic and political organization of modern society make imperative the task of preserving, in written records, the enormous mass of factual data which reflects the totality of events transpiring within the framework of this society. The prodigious development of social and political institutions in the modern era has not only added to this accumulation the weight of the manifold activities of these institutions and agencies, but has necessitated the registration and preservation of other vast bodies of factual material. Prominent among these is the mass of vital statistics pertaining to births, marriages, and deaths.

Within the framework of the European social structure, which has been solidly established for ages and has, during the great formative centuries, benefited by the unifying influence of a universal Christian Church, an adequate preservation of vital statistics has been not only a possibility but an actuality for many centuries. In America, however, the circumstances attendant upon the settlement and economic development of this country did not militate for an adequate recording of vital statistics. In New Jersey, for example, the comparatively elementary institutional forms of social order and the relatively simple economic structure, based on agriculture and commerce, were factors retarding any thoroughgoing attempt to register vital statistics in the State.

The first attempt to procure the registration of vital statistics in New Jersey was made by the General Assembly of the Proprietary government in 1675. (1) The clerks of all towns were instructed to enter in a book to be supplied by each town all births, marriages, and deaths occurring within the town limits. Persons failing to make a proper report to the town clerk were to be fined one to two shillings. (2) In 1682, the West Jersey General Assembly authorized the clerks as registers of the individual "jurisdictions," (3) to keep a public record of vital statistics. (4)

The "Fundamental Constitutions" for the province of East Jersey provided that a registry of vital statistics be kept in each county (Ibid., p. 163).

(2) Ibid., p. 100.

(3) West Jersey was divided at the time into the two jurisdictions of Burlington and Salem. These divisions corresponded to the counties of East Jersey.

(4) Leaming and Spicer, Grants and Concessions, pp. 446, 447.

No provincial record of this type was required until 1702, when Lord Cornbury, the first Governor of the Province of New Jersey, was instructed by the Crown to keep an account of all births, baptisms, and deaths occurring within the Province. (5) In 1718, the Provincial government took steps to prevent clandestine marriages by requiring the parent or custodian of a minor to give a certificate of consent to the marriage of the minor. The certificate was to be filed and registered in the office of the Secretary of the Province. (6) No further elaboration of these legal recording requirements was made during the colonial era.

By the first State legislation respecting vital statistics, enacted in 1795, justices of the peace as well as ministers of the gospel were required to keep marriage records and to transmit marriage certificates to the clerk of the court of common pleas for the particular county to be properly registered and recorded. (7) Four years later, the clerks of the various townships were empowered to record births and deaths in an appropriate book, if the persons authorized to apply for such registration should do so within 3 years of the occurrence of the birth or death. (8)

The first comprehensive policy for recording vital statistics in the State was adopted in 1848. The Secretary of State was required to supply blank books of record and return forms to all township clerks and to the clerk of the governing body of all incorporated cities and boroughs. These local officials were to keep therein a record of all births, marriages, and deaths; in June of each year, they were required to send the Secretary of State a certified copy of their record for the preceding year. (9) This was the first legislation to be applied effectively throughout the State as is evidenced by the entries in this guide to the vital statistics records of New Jersey.

The duty of ascertaining by actual inquiry or otherwise what births, marriages, and deaths had occurred during the course of the year was transferred from the clerk to the assessor or assessors of the various townships and city wards. These latter officials transmitted their records to the clerks of the respective municipalities by the first of September of each year. The clerk copied the record into his book of vital statistics and sent a certified copy to the Secretary of State. (10)

County boards of health and vital statistics were empowered, in 1876, to receive all returns of vital statistics in the county, and the clerk of the board was required to file the returns with the office of the State Secretary. (11)

The State Board of Health was constituted, in 1887, as a State Bureau of Vital Statistics, to which was assigned the function of preparing tabular classifications, indexes, and transcriptions of the vital statistics contained in the certificates transmitted to the State. (12) Local boards of health were also created to enforce the registration of vital statistics in all municipalities. (13)

The administration and enforcement of the laws governing the registration of vital statistics in New Jersey today is a function of the State Department of Health. (14) The immediate supervision of vital statistics registration is exercised by the State Registrar of Vital Statistics, who is appointed by the department as the director of the bureau of vital statistics. (15) In this capacity the State Registrar has a supervisory authority over all local registrars, their deputies, and subregistrars. He supplies these various local officials with all the forms required by law for the return of vital statistics. When the monthly returns of certificates are received from the local registrars, he examines all certificates for their completeness of detail; if any are unsatisfactory, it is the State Registrar's duty to require whatever further information is necessary. (16)

Birth and death certificates are arranged, bound, and preserved in a permanent form by the State Registrar. He also maintains a continuous index of these certificates, arranged alphabetically by the name of the decedent in the case of deaths and by the name of the child in case of births. If the child is unnamed, the certificate is indexed by the name of the father or mother. (17)

Certificates of marriage and marriage licenses which are received by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics are indexed alphabetically. A transcription or record is made of such facts contained in the certificates which the State Registrar considers useful. The certificates are tabulated by counties or municipalities of over 5,000 inhabitants. This record is kept as a public record in the office of the bureau, and the original certificates are deposited in the archives of the bureau. (18)

The local unit for the administration of vital statistic legislation in the State is the registration district. Every incorporated political subdivision of the State, except school districts, constitutes a registration district. (19) The local board of health for the district appoints a registrar (20) who is empowered to enforce the proper registration of vital statistics within his district. (21) A certificate of his appointment is filed with the State Department of Health for approval. (22)

The local registrar, upon receipt of certificates of births and deaths, numbers them consecutively in two separate series for each calendar year. After examining each certificate, he transcribes it in a record book supplied by the local board of health. The record book is kept in his office as a permanent local record. The original certificates are transmitted on the tenth of each month to the State Registrar. If, in the previous month, no births or deaths have occurred in the district, the local registrar communicates this fact to the State official. (23)

The local registrar must report to the State Registrar any violation of the laws relative to vital statistics. (24) The latter investigates irregularities or violations of these laws and, if necessary, reports such violations to the county prosecutor of the pleas for legal action. (25) He may also direct a local registrar to institute proceedings in any court having competent jurisdiction. (26) A penalty of not more than $500 is charged against any person who knowingly submits a false certificate. (27) Penalties are also fixed for actions involving the failure or refusal of any individual to furnish correctly such information as he may possess; the submission, willfully and knowingly, of false information; the illegal alteration or deliberate falsification of any certificate or record of vital statistics; and the failure to fill out and transmit the certificates and records required by law. Explanatory Notes

R.S.:

The Revised Statutes of New Jersey 1937 is a revision and restatement of the body of New Jersey law in full force and effect from 1709 to 1937. Each section of the Revised Statutes contains references to the original text from which each section has been compiled. These references are indicated in the footnotes to this guide to vital statistics records by the P.L. citations preceding the R.S. numbers. The purpose of a revision of laws is to omit all obsolete or superseded laws or parts thereof and to clarify the texts of laws in a concise restatement. Therefore, the commission authorized to engage in the revision of the statutes was also empowered to change the phraseology of the laws (except those which have been judicially interpreted by the Supreme and Errors and Appeals Courts). In the light of the foregoing, there will appear inconsistencies in the revision as compared with the original source, the Pamphlet Laws. In cases of such discrepancies the Revised Statutes govern.

Entry form:

The counties have been set up in alphabetical order and likewise the municipalities within the counties. Under the name of each municipality, the inclusive dates for the record are given. Information concerning the record is given in the following sequence: Title, quantity, arrangement of information within the record series, indexing information, title of official charged with its custody, and the fee for copies thereof.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS

The first legislation pertaining to the recording of births in the State was enacted by the General Assembly of the Province of New Jersey in 1675. The clerks of the various towns were required to record, in a book provided by the town, all births occurring within the town limits. (1) The town of Woodbridge, however, had anticipated this legislation by several years, births having been registered there as early as 1671. (2) When the Twenty-four Proprietors of East Jersey drew up the "Fundamental Constitutions" for the Province in 1683, it was stipulated that a "publick register" was to be kept in each county for births as well as marriages and deaths. (3) This paralleled the action of the General Free Assembly of West Jersey which decreed, in 1682, that the clerks of the jurisdictions comprising the Province enter upon a public register all births of which they were rightly informed. (4)

The first reference to any form of provincial record is contained in Queen Anne's instructions to Lord Cornbury, who, in 1702, was appointed Governor of the newly consolidated Provinces of East and West Jersey. An account was to be kept of all persons born within the colony and "fair abstracts thereof" were to be sent to the Crown and to the Lord Commissioners for Trade and Plantations. (5)

No further legislation concerning the registration of births was enacted until 1799, when the first vital statistic legislation affecting townships was enacted. Parents could, if they so desired, apply to the clerk of their township for registration of the birth of a child at any time within 3 years after the date of birth. A certificate of proof of birth was attested to upon an oath taken before a justice of the peace and filed with the township clerk. The latter was required to enter upon a book of registry the name of the child, the time and place of birth, and the names of the parents. (6)

No determined effort, however, was made to secure the proper registration of births until 1848, when the foundation for the recording of modern vital statistics was laid by the State Legislature. Every township clerk or his authorized deputy was required by law to determine what births had occurred within the township preceding the first of May of each year. He then recorded the births and filed the record with the other papers of the township before the end of May. (7) The record contained the following information: Date of birth, place of birth, name and sex of child, names of parents, occupation of the father, residence of parents, and the date of registration. The clerk filed, annually, a certified copy of the record of births for the preceding year with the Secretary of State of New Jersey. (8) The performance of these functions was also required of the clerk of any incorporated city or borough whose boundaries coincided with the limits of an entire township. (9) The State Secretary prepared suitable blank books of record which he furnished together with return forms to the various municipal clerks. (10) To insure a more accurate registration of births, the physician or midwife in attendance was required by a law of 1851 to report births to the township clerk. (11)

These provisions for recording of births were extended to all cities in the State in 1862. (12) At the same time, the function of ascertaining and registering births was transferred from the clerk to the assessors of the township and city wards. The assessors filed their record of births with the clerk of the township or city, who in turn copied the record in the registry of the municipality for all vital statistics. The municipal clerk also sent a certified copy of the record to the Secretary of State. (13)

Not until 1876 did the State empower a county officer to exercise the function of vital statistic recording. In any county where a board of health and vital statistics was already established, all persons required to file returns of births were to make such returns to the county board. (14) The only county affected by this legislation was Hudson. (15) In 1878, however, the counties generally were designated as depositories of vital statistic records. The State Secretary was instructed to send annually (16) to each county clerk in his capacity as clerk of the court of common pleas all returns from his county. Birth records were to be filed separately in alphabetical order and indexed. (17)

The legal power to compel registration of all births by the persons attending such births was transferred to the local boards of health in 1886. (18) All certificates of birth were filed with the local registrar of vital statistics or, if there was no such officer, with the clerk of the municipality. (19) State registration of these birth certificates became a function of the newly created State Bureau of Vital Statistics in 1887. (20)

Today the duty of collecting, preserving, and tabulating all birth statistics is a function of the Director of the State Department of Health. (21) This department is charged with the task of procuring the proper registration of births in all registration districts and in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. (22) The active supervision of vital statistic registration throughout the State is vested in the State

(16) In the same year, the assessors, clerks, or other officers of the various municipalities intrusted with the duty of receiving registrations of births were required by law to transmit monthly all certificates of births to the Secretary of State who was the Secretary of the State Board of Health (P.L. 1878, pp. 355, 357).

Registrar of Vital Statistics. (23) The local registrars are required to number all birth certificates consecutively for each year, ascertain whether the certificate conforms to State law, copy the certificates in the record book supplied for the purpose, give the parents official notice that the birth has been recorded, and transmit to the State Registrar on the tenth of each month all the original certificates of birth received during the preceding month. (24)

The birth certificate is filed with the local registrar within 5 days of the birth. (25) (For contents of the certificate see p. 8.) The physician or midwife attending the birth is responsible for filing the certificate. (26) When a birth takes place without the assistance of a physician or midwife, a parent of the child or the manager of the institution where the birth occurs performs this function. (27) Certificates of stillbirths are executed and filed with the local registrar in the same manner as certificates of birth except that the word "stillbirth" is inserted in the space for the child's name. (28)

All births which are not recorded with the State Bureau of Vital Statistics may be recorded by filing with the bureau a certificate signed by the physician or midwife who assisted at the birth, a parent of the child, or, if these persons are not available, a person acquainted with the facts of the birth. The certificate is accompanied by an affidavit taken before the judge of the court of common pleas of the county in which the birth occurred. (29)

If the parents of a child born out of wedlock legitimize the child by lawful marriage and submit proof of the marriage to the State Registrar or any local registrar, the child's birth certificate may be corrected to give the child the father's surname. Such other information concerning the father which is required by law is also added to the record. After the amendment of the record is accepted, no information about the illegitimacy can be divulged. (30)

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES

The earliest legislation relative to the registration of vital statistics in New Jersey was enacted by the General Assembly in 1673. The clerk of each town was required to keep a record of all marriages consummated within the bounds of the town. (1) Within the next decade county clerks were authorized to keep a record of marriages in the public registers of the counties. (2) To prevent clandestine marriages the Provincial Assembly decreed in 1718 that certificates of consent to marriages of minors be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Province and be accompanied by a bond given by the minors to the Governor. When, however, banns were published, the certificate of consent was to be registered with the county clerk and the bond filed in his office or with the clerk of the sessions court. (3)

The State Legislature, in 1795, instructed justices of the peace, ministers of the gospel, and all others having authority to perform the rites of marriages, to keep a record of every marriage performed and, within 6 months after the ceremony, to transmit the certificate of marriage to the clerk of the court of common pleas. (4)

Legislation regulating the registering of marriages was considerably amplified in 1848. (5) Every justice of the peace, minister, and the clerk or keeper of the records of any meeting of the Society of Friends was required to keep a record of all marriages which he performed. The records contained the following information: Date and place of the marriage; name, residence, and official station of the person performing the marriage; name and surnames of the persons united in wedlock; residence, age, status (single or widowed), and

TO CLERGYMEN

The law allows FIVE DAYS to report a marriage.

The license, completed marriage certificate and gray certificate forms are to be filed with the registrar of vital statistics of the city, borough, town or township where the marriage is performed.

The registrar is usually the health officer, city or borough clerk or assessor of a township. If in doubt to whom to mail a certificate, send it to State Bureau of Vital Statistics, Trenton, N. J., with statement to that effect.

This stub is for your convenience in keeping a duplicate of the legal record of the marriage and for use should the original be lost.

Marriage records are valuable proof for many purposes during life and are frequently essential to a widow to prove her right to the insurance and estate of her deceased husband or to obtain a widow's pension.

Note:—This certificate, complete in every particular, must be filed within five days with the registrar of vital statistics of the district in which the marriage takes place. Registrars are usually city and borough clerks and assessors of townships.

occupation of each; names of the parents; and the time when the record was made. A copy of this record was transmitted monthly to the clerk of the township (6) in which the marriage was performed. (7) The clerk recorded and numbered the marriages in the order in which they were received. He transmitted a certified copy of his record to the State Secretary annually in the month of June. (8) All local officials, charged with the duty of procuring the registration of vital statistics, were required, in 1878, to transmit each month all certificates of marriage to the State Secretary. (9)

Local boards of health were empowered by the State, in 1886, to compel all persons performing the rites of marriage to file returns of such marriages. (10) Certificates of marriage were transmitted to the local registrar of vital statistics or, where no such officer functioned, to the clerk of the municipality. (11) During 1918, chaplains of the armed forces of the United States who performed marriages in this State were required by law to file a certificate of marriage and an affidavit with the clerk of the municipality in which the ceremony was held. (12)

Today, local registrars, and, in the case of Hudson, the clerk of the county board of health and bureau of vital statistics transmit to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics by the tenth of each month all the certificates of marriage, licenses, and consents to the marriages of minors which they have received. (13) These returns are made on blank forms which the State bureau furnishes. (14) The State Registrar causes these certificates and licenses to be indexed alphabetically and insures the proper recording of such vital facts as appear on the forms. The certificates are tabulated in the State office to give, in the separate and distinct classes, the records of all counties and municipalities numbering more than 5,000 inhabitants. This tabulation is kept in the office of the State Bureau of Vital

Statistics as a public record, and the certificates are placed in its archives. (15) Recent legislative action has required that certificates of medical examination must be attached to the marriage license. (16)

When a court of chancery declares a marriage to be null and void, the record of the marriage existing in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics may be cancelled by order of the court. (17) Corrections to marriage certificates or licenses must be signed by the person who signed the former or by the officer who issued the latter. (18)

REGISTRATION OF DEATHS

Colonial assemblies of New Jersey paid only scant attention to the recording of death statistics. Town clerks, in 1675, (1) and county clerks, in 1682 and 1683, (2) were authorized to keep public records of all deaths occurring within their respective jurisdictions. When Lord Cornbury was appointed Governor of New Jersey by Queen Anne in 1702, he was instructed to have accounts kept of all persons buried in the Province and send abstracts of the records each year to the Crown and to the Lord Commissioners for Trade and Plantations. (3)

The State Legislature took the first steps in 1799 towards improving the registration of death statistics. When a person died his executors, administrators, or next of kin in this State were granted the right to apply to the township clerk within a period of 3 years for the proper registration of the death. The clerk entered in a book kept for such purposes the name of the decedent and the time and place of his death. Proof was required of the death; a certificate attesting to the death was sworn to before a justice of the peace and filed with the township clerk. (4)

The essential features of the present system of recording death statistics were established in 1848. All persons having charge of cemeteries or burial grounds made monthly reports to the township clerk of all burials which they had supervised during the preceding month together with such facts concerning the death as were required by law. (5) In his permanent record the clerk (6) numbered the deaths in the order in which he received them and listed the following vital statistic information in separate columns: Date of death, name and surname of the deceased, sex, marital status, age, occupation, place of death, place of birth, names of parents, disease or cause of death, and the time of registration. (7) A certified copy of this record was transmitted annually to the Secretary of State. (8) The latter was required to prepare from these copies such tables as would render them useful and make an annual report to the State Legislature. (9)

The duty of collecting vital statistic data for registration of deaths was transferred from the clerk to the assessors in 1862. (10) At the same time the legislation pertaining to the maintenance of death records was extended to all cities. (11) In any city having a population of more than 5,000 inhabitants, the municipal clerk was required by law, in 1879, to keep an indexed registry of deaths. (12)

In Newark, however, the gathering of vital statistic data remained a function of the city clerk. (13) Special legislation in 1871 required physicians in Newark to file death certificates with the clerk of the board of health within 24 hours after the deaths. (14)

All local officials empowered to accept certificates of death were charged by the State Legislature, in 1878, to send these certificates to the Secretary of State by the fifteenth of each month. (15) All the returns were arranged and indexed alphabetically in the State office and filed in the archives of the Secretary of State. To insure the most complete registration possible, local boards of health were empowered, in 1886, to compel physicians and other persons who officiated at a person's death to file the proper returns with the local registrar or other official charged with the duty of receiving certificates of death. (16)

Today, the undertaker in charge of the disposal of the body of a dead person is responsible for the proper execution of the death certificate and for filing it with the local registrar. (17) (For contents of the certificate, see the attached form following p. 179.) In cases of stillbirths, the death certificate indicates the fact and states the cause, if known. (18)

The local registrar numbers the certificates consecutively for each calendar year. He makes an accurate copy of each certificate in the record book which is kept permanently in his office as a public local record. (19) On the tenth of each month the original certificates are transmitted to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. If no deaths have occurred during the previous month, this fact is reported on a card provided for that purpose. (20) The certificates are arranged, bound, and preserved permanently in the office of the State Registrar; a continuous index arranged alphabetically by the name of the decedent is maintained. (21)

Corrections to death certificates are signed by the physician, coroner, undertaker, or informant whose name appears on the certificate. These persons, however, have no authority to make any change in the stated cause or duration of cause of death. (22)

APPENDIX

Divorce and Annulment Statistics

By authority of various statutes the clerk of the Court of Chancery enters the pleadings, decrees, and other papers for divorce and annulment proceedings in a book kept for that purpose. (1) When a marriage has been declared null and void in the Court of Chancery, the Chancellor may order the record of marriage, existent in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, to be canceled. (2) A certified copy of the Chancellor's order is attached to the marriage return, which is endorsed as follows by the State Registrar: "This marriage declared to be null and void by the court of chancery. See order hereto annexed." (3)

MANUAL OF UNIFORM PROCEDURE FOR THE DELAYED REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS

(Prepared under the direction of Halbert L. Dunn, M.D., Chief Statistician for Vital Statistics; Department of Commerce, Jesse H. Jones, Secretary; Bureau of the Census, J. C. Capt, Director, Washington, D. C.)

PART I
PURPOSE OF MANUAL

This manual outlines the procedure for the delayed registration of births and for the issuance of delayed certificates of birth. It is hoped that this procedure will be adopted and followed by the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the States.

PART II
PROCEDURE FOR REGISTRATION

1. DEFINITIONS

A. Delayed Registration of Birth.

"Delayed Registration of Birth" means the registration of a person's birth on or after his fourth birthday. (It is recognized that states may, by law or regulation, establish a lower critical age).

B. Delayed -- Special Registration of Birth.

"Delayed -- Special Registration of Birth" means the registration of a birth which occurred prior to the enactment of the Vital Statistics Law of the state in which registration is sought.

C. Class A Records.

"Class A Records" are records established before the fourth birthday of the registrant.

D. Class B Records.

"Class B Records" are records established on or after the fourth birthday of the registrant.

2. REQUIREMENTS FOR ESTABLISHING THE FACTS OF BIRTH

In all instances of delayed registrations of birth, all the following facts concerning the person whose birth is to be registered must be established:

(a) Date of birth
(b) Birthplace
(c) Parentage

The foregoing facts must be established by one of the following methods:

1. Documentary Method:- The presentation of two records, each from independent and different sources, one of which must be Class A; or three Class B records, each from independent and different sources. Class B records must be at least five years old in order to be considered as evidence, but, if made later, may be taken into account in investigating a case. The types of documentary evidence which may be accepted to establish the fact of American birth are shown in Part III.

2. Inquiry Method:- In instances where acceptable documentary evidence is not available, all other evidence possible should be assembled and presented. The proper authorities should institute a thorough and independent investigation in all such cases and prepare a report and recommendations. In cases in which the applicant for delayed certificate of birth is subject to court order, an abstract of the evidence and the pertinent facts stated therein should appear on the certificate. When this evidence, in the opinion of the responsible registration official, presents questionable aspects, the case should be referred to the court of proper jurisdiction with a statement of the reason for such action. Although the courts are legally responsible for the adjudication of such records, the specialized experience of the Registrar of Vital Statistics will often lead him to discover questionable circumstances not readily apparent to others less familiar with vital statistics procedures and requirements.

3. RESPONSIBILITY FOR INVESTIGATION OF CASES

The determination as to whether documentary evidence submitted is sufficient to warrant the issuance of a delayed certificate of birth, is the responsibility of the Registrar of Vital Statistics. In making such determination, this officer should be authorized to institute a thorough and independent investigation. In all cases of investigation, a summary of the findings should be included as a part of the certificate to be filed, which as a minimum, should show the kinds of documents submitted, together with their origin and authenticity, the registrant's age and birthplace, and his parents' names.

4. OATH OF THE REGISTRANT

The signature of the registrant, if twelve years of age or over, should be obtained on the certificate attesting under oath to his belief in the truth of the statements made concerning his age, birthplace, and parentage. If the registrant is under twelve years of age, the certificate may be signed by him or by his parents or guardian. This signature is essential for linking the identification of the person to the certificate.

5. CERTIFICATION BY REVIEWING OFFICIAL

The responsible registration official or his designated representative should certify that he has reviewed the evidence submitted to establish the facts of birth, and that the summary, or abstract thereof, appearing on the delayed certificate conforms to the statements as set forth in the evidence. In cases where the registration of delayed certificate is subject to court order, the official of the court should make this certification, and the responsible registration official should certify only to the fact that he has received and signed the certificate.

6. FORM OF DELAYED CERTIFICATE OF BIRTH

The form of the delayed certificate of birth set out in Part IV hereof is recommended as embodying the foregoing minimum requirements. Delayed certificates should be prominently marked "Delayed" and should be filed separately from current birth certificates registered within the regular period specified by law.

7. PRECAUTIONS

(a) Unauthenticated documents on plain paper are not of primary value.

(b) When a registrant gives his birthplace as only "U.S.A.", the assertion should be challenged, and accepted only if other more explicit evidence has been submitted.

(c) Differentiation should be made between actual date appearing on the face of a document and what is believed, claimed, or inferred by the applicant or by the examining official from a knowledge or examination of such a record.

(d) There is a distinction between an original document and certified copies thereof. Every certified or photostatic copy of an original document should give information as to the date the copy was made and as to the location and custodian of the original.

(e) All unauthenticated documents must be supported by an affidavit incorporating all statements made by the applicant relative thereto.

8. EXCEPTIONS

Exceptions to the foregoing procedure should only be made in the case of persons who are under the age of twelve years, and then only where the prescribed procedure is wholly impractical. In certain specialized cases, the inability of an applicant to furnish evidence should not necessarily prevent the filing of a certificate relating to that person. Extreme care, however, should be exercised in such instances, and a complete statement of the facts setting forth the reason for the absence of evidence should be placed on the certificate and shown on certified copies thereof.

PART III
EVIDENCE FOR PROVING AMERICAN BIRTH

The types of evidence which will generally be acceptable to establish the facts necessary for the issuance of a delayed certificate of birth are set forth below in order of preference. Records which are less than five years old will not be considered acceptable evidence but should be studied by the examining official in his investigation of the case. In each case the applicant should be required to certify under oath that the evidence which he has submitted and the statements which he has made are true to the best of his knowledge and belief. He should also be required to authorize an investigation by the appropriate official of any of the information which he has furnished.

1. Hospital Record. (A certified copy, preferably photostatic, of the hospital record of birth.)

2. Physician's Record. (A certified copy, preferably photostatic, of the office record of the physician who attended the birth.)

3. Record from a local, state or federal census. (The value of such evidence will vary depending upon the date and circumstances under which the record was made. Where the applicant can produce consistent transcripts from two consecutive decennial federal census records, the evidence will be considered of considerable value. Application forms for the foregoing records may be obtained from an applicant's County Health Officer, the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, or the Bureau of Census, Washington, D.C.). (See note)

4. Family Bible Record. (Bible records will be considered Class B records unless it can be proved beyond reasonable doubt that the information in question was recorded prior to the registrant's fourth birthday. The name and address of the current custodian of such records and of the person whom it is believed made the original entry should be furnished.)

5. Baptismal, Cradle Roll, Confirmation Certificate or Other Church Record. (If the applicant does not have an original or certified copy of such record, he should be instructed to write the present pastor of the church where such record was made and to request a certified copy thereof.)

6. School Record. (The applicant should write to the principals of various schools which he attended or the Superintendent of Schools for the locality in which such schools are situated, requesting a certified copy of the original record of the applicant's age or birth date, his birthplace and his parent's names as given upon his entrance. Where available, a certified copy of any application filed should be obtained.)

Note:-Please do not request a search of United States Census records unless you have been unable to obtain this information from state or local records. A certification that this has been done is required of every applicant for a Census search.

7. Insurance Policy. (If the applicant no longer has the policy he should write to the insurance company for a statement showing the date of birth, birthplace and names of parents as shown on the application for the policy. Where available, a certified copy of the signed application for such policy should be obtained.)

8. Army, Navy, or Marine Discharge. (In cases where the actual birth date is given.)

9. Other types of Documents. Several other types of documents may be acceptable as evidence depending upon their age and the circumstances under which they were made. The weight which is to be accorded any single document of this character will also vary accordingly. Since for the most part it represents less reliable evidence, any such document should be carefully scrutinized.

a. Driver's license

b. Marriage records

c. Voting registration record

d. Employment records

e. Birth certificate of registrant's child

f. Records from organizations of which applicant is, or at one time was, a member, whether trade, professional, social or fraternal.

10. Affidavit. The value of an affidavit to establish the facts necessary for the issuance of a delayed certificate of birth will vary materially. Thus an affidavit of a reliable physician who attended the birth of the applicant deserves substantial weight. If the affidavit is to prove the date of the applicant's birth, the affiant should state why he knows and remembers the date. In each instance the relationship of the affiant to the registrant must be stated in the affidavit.

PART IV
FORM OF CERTIFICATE

Attached hereto is a form of delayed certificate of birth which is recommended for use by the Bureaus of Vital Statistics in the States.

PART V
NATIONALITY AT BIRTH

The determination of nationality at birth is fully covered in Chapter II of the Nationality Act of 1940. (Public No. 853, 76th Congress), approved October 14, 1940, as follows:

"Sec. 201. The following shall be nationals and citizens of the United States at birth:

(a) A person born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof;

(b) A person born in the United States to a member of an Indian, Eskimo, Aleutian, or other aboriginal tribe: Provided, That the granting of citizenship under this subsection shall not in any manner impair or otherwise affect the right of such person to tribal or other property;

(c) A person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents both of whom are citizens of the United States and one of whom has resided in the United States or one of its outlying possessions, prior to the birth of such person;

(d) A person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who resided in the United States or one of its outlying possessions prior to the birth of such person, and the other of whom is a national, but not a citizen of the United States;

(e) A person born in an outlying possession of the United States of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who resided in the United States or one of its outlying possessions prior to the birth of such person;

(f) A child of unknown parentage found in the United States, until shown not to have been born in the United States;

(g) A person born outside the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who, prior to the birth of such person, has had ten years' residence in the United States or one of its outlying possessions, at least five of which were after attaining the age of sixteen years, the other being an alien: Provided, That, in order to retain such citizenship, the child must reside in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or period totaling five years between the ages of thirteen and twenty-one years: Provided further, That, if the child has not taken up a residence in the United States or its outlying possessions by the time he reaches the age of sixteen years, or if he resides abroad for such a time that it becomes impossible for him to complete the five years' residence in the United States or its outlying possessions before reaching the age of twenty-one years, his American citizenship shall thereupon cease.

The preceding provisions shall not apply to a child born abroad whose American parent is at the time of the child's birth residing abroad solely or principally in the employment of the Government of the United States or a bona fide American, educational, scientific, philanthropic, religious, commercial, or financial organization, having its principal office or place of business in the United States, or an international agency of an official character in which the United States participates, for which he receives a substantial compensation;

(h) The foregoing provisions of subsection (g) concerning retention of citizenship shall apply to a child born abroad subsequent to May 24, 1934.

Sec. 202. All persons born in Puerto Rico on or after April 11, 1899, subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, residing on the effective date of this Act in Puerto Rico or other territory over which the United States exercises rights of sovereignty and not citizens of the United States under any other Act, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States.

Sec. 203. (a) Any person born in the Canal Zone on or after February 26, 1904, and whether before or after the effective date of this Act, whose father or mother or both at the time of the birth of such person was or is a citizen of the United States, is declared to be a citizen of the United States.

(b) Any person born in the Republic of Panama on or after February 26, 1904, and whether before or after the effective date of this Act, whose father or mother or both at the time of the birth of such person was or is a citizen of the United States employed by the Government of the United States or by the Panama Railroad Company, is declared to be a citizen of the United States.

Sec. 204. Unless otherwise provided in section 201, the following shall be nationals, but not citizens, of the United States at birth:

(a) A person born in an outlying possession of the United States of parents one of whom is a national, but not a citizen, of the United States;

(b) A person born outside the United States and its outlying possessions of parents both of whom are nationals, but not citizens, of the United States, and have resided in the United States or one of its outlying possessions prior to the birth of such person;

(c) A child of unknown parentage found in an outlying possession of the United States, until shown not to have been born in such outlying possession.

Sec. 205. The provisions of section 201, subsections (c), (d), (e), and (g), and section 204, subsections (a), and (b), hereof apply, as of the date of birth, to a child born out of wedlock, provided the paternity is established during minority, by legitimation, or adjudication of a competent court.

In the absence of such legitimation or adjudication, the child, whether born before or after the effective date of this Act, if the mother had the nationality of the United States at the time of the child's birth, and had previously resided in the United States or one of its outlying possessions, shall be held to have acquired at birth her nationality status."
